BOXED NOTES

As I look back at these letters in our most recent catalogs, I'm reminded what wild a ride it's been since the pandemic blindsided us all on March 15, 2020. Here at ESW, we somehow survived the shutdown, assessed the PPP vs. furlough options, learned about unemployment compensation, practiced isolation and masking, signed up for Zoom, worked from home, spitballed plans for "mothballing" our operations, packed and shipped online orders with staggered schedules in the eerie isolation of our empty offices.

And then, as the crisis eased, we were hit with critical shortages of paper, envelopes, lamination, and the other ingredients that go into making our products. Through most of 2022, it felt like we spent as much time solving new problems and hunting down supplies as we did selling and shipping things.

By comparison, 2023 has been a dream. Turnaround times and fulfillment rates for your orders have returned to normal, most components are back in stock, trade shows and prospecting trips are back on our calendar. We were delighted to see your smiling, unmasked faces once again.

We didn't set any growth records this year, but sales were good—certainly good enough—with lots of new stores discovering our stuff and cherished long-time customers making good use of our expanded catalog.

All of us here at ESW are grateful to be making and selling products we believe in to you, nice people who share our values. We consider, you, our retail partners, to be our biggest asset. You've stuck by us through all of this and for that we are eternally grateful.

So here's to a gratifying year past and on to 2024!

— Steve Lewers, President
