Letter from the Publisher

AS FALL APPROACHES, I am pleased to announce that Pajama Press will now be represented by a new sales team headed up by the Hornblower Group and Read + Co Books. Both groups are respected trade sales agents who cover the vast territory of Canada. We are excited to have so many seasoned professionals selling our list this Fall season. Please find your local representative in the back pages of our catalog. We know that they will be calling on you very soon with our new and exciting Fall list, found in the catalog pages which follow.

Louis Anctil, who has handled our sales in Canada for the past 5 years has decided to wind down his sales agency and focus more on his French Publishing Company, Les éditions du Pacifique Nord-Ouest, going forward. We wish Louis all the best with his publishing endeavors and hope that he enjoys concentrating on his true passion, publishing French children's books.

And lastly, I would like to offer my congratulations to our three recently nominated authors and illustrators who were part of the 2023/24 OLA Forest of Reading Program. Colleen Nelson, Michelle Kadarusman, Sandra Bradley, and Gabrielle Grimard—thank you for being part of the largest reading program in Canada for children. It has been wonderful to witness the great enthusiasm of all the kids who have been reading your books last fall and this spring.

Warmly,

Gail

Gail Elizabeth Winskill, Publisher

When a little witch's broom is ruined, help from an unlikely new friend, a persevering attitude, and a bit of magic, may be exactly what she needs to get back in the air. From celebrated author Jennifer Maruno and award-winning illustrator Scot Ritchie.

When a little witch finds her broom in tatters, she must persevere to pass her flying test. With the help of an unlikely friend, and a bit of magic, she may just be able to reach the skies.

"Charming...
A total win."
—Kevin Sylvester, author of
Apartment 713

From the award-winning author of The Umbrella House comes a mystery with twists, turns, and suspects galore. Will Elodie LaRue be able to prove she has what it takes to solve a crime?

Left behind by her globe-trotting detective parents once again, Elodie decides to prove her worth by starting her own detective agency at her New York home, The Biltmore. With the help of her dog and new neighbor, Elodie is confident she will solve the case of the missing jewels.

For twelve-year-old violinist Flora, growing up doesn't always mean growing apart. But when a Battle of the Bands begins to divide Flora's friend group, will music continue to separate them or bring them back together?

When a music competition is announced, Flora finds herself pulled in different directions. Should she stick to her string quartet and what she knows or join Simon's new rock trio? Author Jean Mills celebrates the joys of music and its power to bring people together.

The dazzling light from a menorah takes a young boy on a journey around the world, introducing him to the holidays of many cultures that celebrate light.

In The Light from My Menorah, a young boy celebrating Hanukkah follows his menorah’s light as it twists and turns in the night sky, carrying him to mountains, deserts, and even into space. On his journey, he sees families from around the world sharing food and togetherness as they celebrate their own special holidays. Andrea Blinick creates magical art as Robin Heald’s text carries the reader through a celebration of other cultures as well as one’s own.
